

B2022 Commonwealth Games quota distribution and funding information

QUOTA DISTRIBUTION

The participation of athletes in the B2022 Judo competition will be in accordance with a Commonwealth Games Federation (CGF) approved “open athlete allocation’ process.

The CGF has reduced the overall athlete quotas (slots) available to Australia for Birmingham 2022 (B2022) in Open Athlete Allocation Sports. This has seen a net reduction of 56 athlete slots (292 to 236) as compared to Gold Coast 2018.

In determining a transparent process of athlete slot allocation to cater for this net reduction, the Commonwealth Games Australia Board approved a Quota System to determine the respective athlete slot allocation to Open Allocation Sports. This comprises:

- A Performance Quota – equal to the number of athletes who achieved (contributed to) podium performances, 4th placings and placings 5th to 8th at GC2018 (GL2014 for judo); and
- A Representation Quota – an adjustment to ensure no Open Athlete Allocation Sport has their team size reduced by no more than 25% (rounded) as compared to GC2018 (GL2014 for judo).
- The breakdown of the Quota system for judo is outlined in the table below, based on the last time Judo competed at the Commonwealth Games (GL2014).

JUDO	Glasgow 2014	No. of Athletes
A	Team Size (Athletes)	13
B	Medals	4
C	Medalists	4
D	4 th Placed Athletes	0
E	5 th – 8 th Ranked Athletes	6
Birmingham 2022
F	Performance Quota (C+D+E)	10
G	75% (rounded) of Glasgow Team Size	10
H	Representation Quota Adjustment	0
I	Performance (F) + Representation (H)	10

- As detailed in the above table, CGA has allocated Judo Australia ten (10) slots for the Birmingham 2022 Commonwealth Games.
- The maximum number of athletes per nation per category is two (2) but the total number of athletes selected cannot exceed the quota allocated to Judo Australia by the CGA.
- Subject to CGA approval, Judo Australia may be allocated extra slots closer to B2022 and for this reason up to four reserve athletes may be selected.
